ACTIVITIES

KAREN FECK

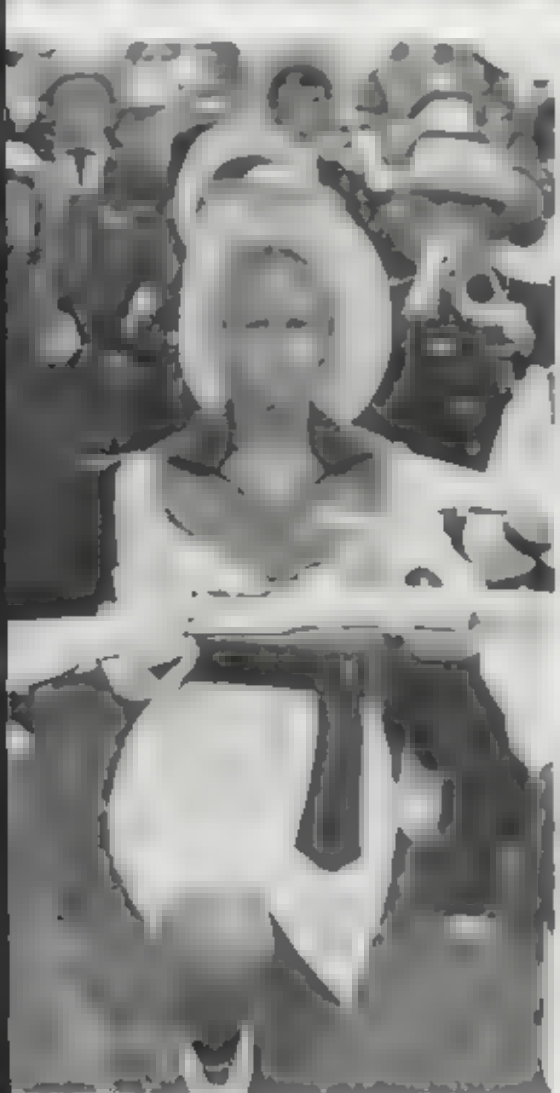

1. The 1981-1982 Claymont Marching Band.
2. The Flag Corps. 3. The Rifle Corps

The Claymont Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Larry Kelley and assisted by Mr. Bruce Gilmore ran into some tough competition this year, but all in all, had a very productive season. The band changed only last year from a marching band style to a soft corps style featuring the percussion section. This year they added more color and zest with a rifle corps.

The year got started when the band marched away with a superior rating at the Ohio State Fair for the fourth time in a row. They also received a first place in field at the Wadsworth Band Competition. Then they traveled to Cambridge to pick up a second place award in field competition at the Cambridge Cavalcade of Bands. The season ended with the first Claymont Band Round-up at the high school stadium.

Homecoming - '81

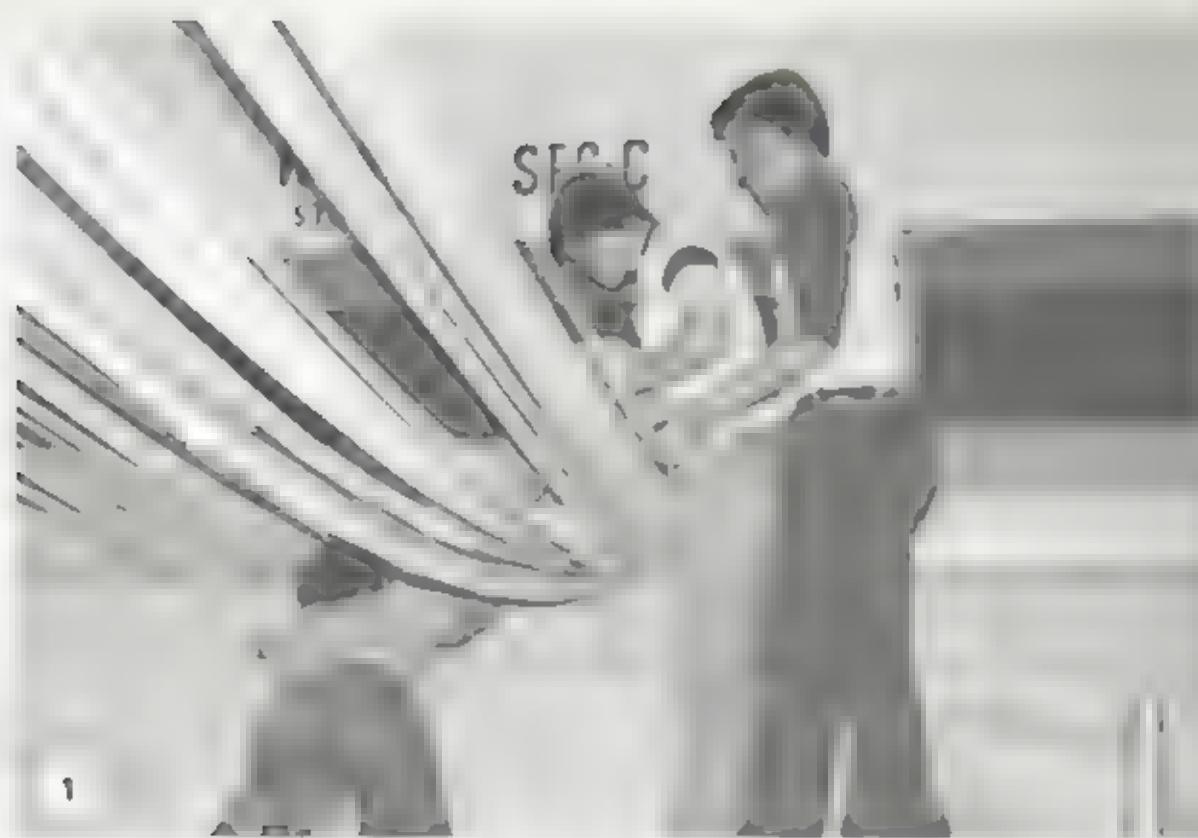

1981 Homecoming started off as a gloomy day with light rain and drizzles. But the day was not totally gloomy for senior Katie Gonzales, who was crowned Homecoming Queen Friday, October 16, at the Claymont-Lake football game.

Seniors Leanne Martini and Tami Hughey, junior Lisa Shinaberry, sophomore Barb Wright and freshman Cindy Scott completed the Homecoming Court.

The following evening the Homecoming Dance, sponsored by Sigma Tri, was held in the gymnasium. Picture Me Studios was on hand to take pictures.

The 1982 Junior Senior Prom was a smashing success, with more juniors and seniors attending than any other prom. The theme selected by the juniors was "Come Sail Away."

Tom Archer and Gina Golec were crowned king and queen, and Mark Beckley and Shelly Morris were selected prince and princess by the juniors who worked on the prom.

The gym was colorfully decorated with palm trees, seashells, sand, coconuts, a lighthouse and murals of sailboats and sunsets.

The Windfall Band provided entertainment and Picture Me Studios was on hand to take individual pictures.

The Equestrian Staff regrets that due to circumstances beyond our control, pictures of the inside of the prom are not available.

In Memory

Tim Barr

Ron Greenwalt

Son, my son,

*I will go up to the mountain
And there I will light a fire
To the feet of my son's spirit,
And there will I lament him,
Saying,
O my son,
What is my life to me, now you are departed!*

*Son, my son,
In the deep earth
We softly laid thee in a Chief's robe,
In a warrior's gear
Surely there,
In the spirit land
Thy deeds attend thee!
Surely,
The corn comes to the ear again!*

*But I, here,
I am the stalk that the seed-gatherers
Descrying empty, afar, left standing
Son, my son!
What is my life to me, now you are departed!*

— traditional Indian song

From The Editor:

Being editor of this year's yearbook has been one of the best things that ever happened to me in my four years at CHS. I personally want to thank all of the yearbook staff for being so cooperative, and getting things done when they had to be. But most of all, I would like to thank Ms. Dunbar for helping me through the rough times when I didn't know what I was doing. I would like to wish Ms. Dunbar and all of the future yearbook staffs all the best of luck in the future

Mike McElravy, Editor-in-Chief

Acknowledgments

The yearbook staff would like to extend sincere thanks to the many people who were instrumental in the publication of our book: John and Karen Lavkulich of Picture Me Studio, Josten's American Yearbook Company and Greg Talese, The Evening Chronicle, The Times Reporter, Mr. Harry Brown, the businesses in the Twin Cities who supported us, and the faculty, administration and student body of Claymont Senior High School.
